Z fighter: reloaded

So this is my first DB\DBZ fan fiction this story will take place after the cell games. This story will not take in consideration the buu arc.

DISCLAIMER: I don't own DBZ or any of its characters except for some villains that are from my creation. So hope you enjoy

Everyday life in the dbz universe

>nine years have passed since the cell games known now as the biggest crisis the earth has ever seen, after the death of goku, vegeta kept training while gohan became a high school student and made some friends. As for goten the youngest son of goku, he was training secretly with his best friend trunks which is none other than vegeta's son and they were able to unlock the SSJ1 transformation while training together (I scraped the part where goten reaches SSJ1 by training with chichi. I mean where is the logic in that?)

The rest of the Z fighters were slaking of like always except for piccolo and tien who were not contaminated by puar's evil plans yet (DAMN YOU PUAR). They were enjoying their normal everyday life.

- 'obviously if goku is not around nothing bad will happen 'those where the thoughts of the majority of the z fighters, I mean they are not totally wrong andâ€|. Let's continue the story and stop side talking ok? So as I was saying they thought that the peaceful life on earth could last forever but what they didn't know was that at this very moment, a space pod that curiously enough resembles the saiyan space pod was making its way to earth, in it a mysterious man was sleeping, peacefully (just realized that, but there is a lot of peace in this chapter) waiting patiently for his arrival in the next chapter.

Sunday march 7 year still unknown:

Gohan, for some reason, was going to school on a Sunday morning and when he arrived there, he saw videl waiting for him next to the high school gate. She had a secret crush on gohan and he knew that (not that much of a secret anymore is it?) but the feeling's where not mutual. Gohan still hated hercule for stealing all the glory after the cell games and leaving with all the price money that was promised with it. They needed that money to continue their normal life especially with the death of goku and the vanishing of the few coins that he made during his few time jobs that where enough (in some bizarre way to pay a house, secure the needs of his family, and make gohan attend school). Gohan then had to find a job at the age of twelve and chichi worked as a maid in Hercules mansion (just because this story needs more drama) while raising her three years old son (I find that more logic than chichi pooing\shitting money). While vegeta was training in the gravity chamber rebuilt and improved by bulma, he sensed a tremendous Ki making its way to earth. By the speed it was approaching at and the distance left before the impact, he estimated that it would be on earth in the next couple of minutes (yes vegeta is a smartass). He immediately began panicking as it was a power that far exceeded cells or any other opponent that they faced before, he made his way to the door of the gravity room thinking of a way to gather the z fighters except for yamcha (because let's face it he got useless right after his fight against tien in the 22nd martial arts tournament)

So there you have it guys, the first chapter of this fanfic hope you enjoyed it, make sure to like, fav and review. I make the 2nd chapter a lot longer. See you next time
